Print

Women's Committee: Links & Resources

Women's Lounges at WHOI

The Women's Committee is happy to announce the renovation of two Women's Lounges. The lounges provide private, secure spaces to pump, nurse, or rest, and, to that end, are equipped with a couch, microwave, sink and small fridge. They can be reserved with an online scheduler (http://teamup.com/ks5a7955f3982c1aa7/), or are otherwise available on a first-come, first-serve basis. Priority should always be given to breastfeeding, pumping, or expectant mothers. The lounges are located on the Quissett Campus in Clark 325 and on the Village Campus through the 2nd floor Ladies washroom in the Redfield building. Please contact the Women's Committee (womens-committee@whoi.edu) with any questions or feedback.

Updated May 2015

WHOI Community Wiki

The WHOI Women's Committee is pleased to announce the WHOI Community Wiki (WHOIKI), an online hub for sharing non-scientific, everyday life information that is useful to both new employees and current employees. We welcome your suggestions for new content, which can be submitted through the contact/submit page. Please share this resource with new folks who will be joining your department this summer!

Some of the content from the WHOIKI was taken with permission from the YaWHOI wiki developed by Joint Program students. Our hope is that the WHOIKI will eventually supersede the YaWHOI wiki.

Updated April 2015

Audio Links

- http://www.womeninscience.org/
- http://www.wamc.org/51.html

Links to Women's professional organizations

This index is intended as a career development resource for women at WHOI. This list does not constitute an endorsement of these organizations by the Women's Committee or WHOI.

Resources for Women

- Advocates for Women in Science, Engineering and Mathematics
- Association for Women in Computing
- Association of Women in Science (AWIS)
- American Association of University Women
- Society of Women Engineers (SWE)
- National Association of Female Executives
- Women In Technology International

Gender-Neutral Resources

- American Chemical Society
- American Geological Institute
- American Geophysical Union
- AIChE American Institute for Chemical Engineers
- American Institute of Mining, Metallurgical, and Petroleum Engineers
- American Institute of Physics
- American Nuclear Society

Related Links

» Women Exploring the Oceans Website
Be sure to visit the web site Women Exploring the Oceans. The site is updated monthly and features interviews with women working in various areas of science, underscoring the many paths into science and the diversity of the people who choose science as a career.

» The Ultimate Guide to Traveling Overseas
Traveling overseas can be an enlightening and enjoyable experience. Absorbing the natural beauty and learning about the new cultures and places helps one to understand and appreciate our rich global community. To make your adventure overseas as safe and memorable as possible, it is important to keep travel tips in mind. Whether planning to leave the country on an educational tour or to enjoy a different side of life, adequate knowledge of the area of the world you will be visiting is important, its laws, general customs, tourist regulations and proper safety precautions are important for a successful trip. The following is a handful of tips to keep you safe and ensure a successful trip.

» Women's Professional Organizations
A list of professional organizations of particular interest to female scientists, mathematicians and engineers is now provided on this site.

» Information for Women Traveling Alone
A brochure prepared by the U.S. State Department Bureau of Consular Affairs provides general information for women who plan to travel abroad alone.

- ASCS American Society of Corporate Secretaries
- American Society for Engineering Education
- American Society of Mechanical Engineers
- American Society for Photogrammetry and Remote Sensing
- American Welding Society
- ASM International (formerly the American Society for Metals)
- Association for Computing Machinery (ACM) and its Special Interest Groups
- Geospatial Information and Technology Association (GITA)
- Association of Information Technology Professionals
- Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE) and its various societies' homepages
- International Association of Administrative Professionals
- International Society for Optical Engineering (SPIE)
- National Society of Professional Engineers
- Optical Society of America
- Engineers Week (eweek)

Other Resources: Indexes and Databases

- Scholarly Societies Project - a listing of over 700 professional organization
- The Intergovernmental Oceanographic Commission of UNESCO Global Directory of Marine and Freshwater Professionals

Related WHOI Links

- Committee on Work and Family Life
- Gender Equity Program Advisory Committee (GEPAC)
- Graded and Marine Personnel Committee (GMPC)
- Information Exchange Group (IEG)
- International Committee
- Mary Sears Woman Pioneer in Oceanography Award
- Mentoring Program
- Staff Committee
- WHOI Diveristy Committee
- Women of Science at the MBL (featuring women scientists from MBL's early days)
- Woods Hole Diversity Advisory Committee
- WHOI Classifieds

Last updated: June 15, 2015

Copyright ©2007 Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution, All Rights Reserved.
Mail: Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution, 266 Woods Hole Road, Woods Hole, MA 02543, USA.
E-Contact: info@whoi.edu; press relations: media@whoi.edu, tel. (508) 457-2000
Problems or questions about the site, please contact webdev@whoi.edu