Fulbright Program for Non-US Students (Institute of International Education)

Contact: Differs based on country of applicant

The Fulbright Program supports educational exchanges that strengthen understanding and communication between the United States and over 140 countries. It is an effective and prestigious form of public diplomacy. More than 1,300 new Foreign Fulbright Fellows enter U.S. academic programs each year. IIE arranges academic placement for most Fulbright nominees and supervises all grantees during their stay in the United States.

Many Fulbrighters are young professionals who will return to responsible positions in their home countries. They often are involved in building institutions and government service when they return home.

Foreign students apply for Fulbright Fellowships through the binational Fulbright Commission or U.S. Embassies in their home countries.

Students must apply through the offices in their home country: see website for information.

Paul and Daisy Soros Foundation Fellowship for New Americans

400 West 59th Street

New York, NY 10019

Tel: 212-547-6926

E-mail: pdsoros_fellows@sorosny.org

The Fellowships are grants for up to two years of graduate study in the United States. Each year the Fellow receives a maintenance grant of $20,000 (paid in two installments) and a tuition grant of one-half the tuition cost of the U.S. graduate program attended by the Fellow. The recipients are chosen on a national competitive basis. Thirty Fellowships will be awarded each year. A New American is an individual who (1) is a resident alien; i.e., holds a Green Card or, (2) has been naturalized as a U.S. citizen or (3) is the child of two parents who are both naturalized citizens. The Program is open to individuals who retain loyalty and a sense of commitment to their country of origin as well as to the United States, but is intended to support individuals who will continue to regard the United States as their principal residence and focus of national identity. The applicant must either have a bachelor's degree or be in her/his final year of undergraduate study. Those who have a bachelor's degree may already be pursuing graduate study and may receive Fellowship support to continue that study. Individuals who are in the third, or subsequent, year of study in the same graduate program are not, however, eligible for this competition. Students who have received a master's degree in a program and are continuing for a doctoral degree in the same program are considered to have been in the same program from the time they began their work on their master's degree.

Deadline: November 1, 2005

Study America is a service for qualified students wishing to study in the United States at the graduate level who are unable to afford such study without financial assistance. IIE also arranges placement in short-term training and intensive English programs. IIE's expert placement staff will see the candidates through each stage of the submission and placement process.

Upon review of the completed application, a placement administrator in consultation with the candidate develops a submission plan and recommends five institutions at which the candidate will be competitive. (This list may include two to three institutions requested by the candidate). Candidates are assigned an account at embark.com to complete the web-based application. At this time, you are responsible for paying the full placement fee. IIE guarantees an offer of admission to at least one of the institutions. Should you not receive an offer of admission IIE will refund the placement fee, less a $100 non-refundable application fee. IIE provides many services during the application process.
