

Human Resources: Healthcare Flexible Spending Account (HC-FSA)

When you enroll in this account you contribute money from your paycheck before taxes are withheld. You then use this money to reimburse yourself with tax-free dollars for certain health care expenses that are not payable under any benefit plan (like medical and dental plan deductibles, coinsurance or co-payments, orthodontia services, lasik surgery, etc.).

Health Equity is our employee benefits third party administration firm.

IRS Restrictions

Because FSAs provide tax advantages, the IRS imposes certain restrictions on their use. These include the following:

- Use-It-Or-Lose-It Rule
- Eligible expenses must be incurred during the plan year (January 1 - December 31); however, there is a 3-month run out period that allows participants to submit for reimbursement of eligible expenses during the plan year up through March 31st of the following year.
- Like your other pre-tax contribution elections, you may not change your FSA contribution amount unless you have had a qualified change in status as defined by the IRS.

To avoid losing any of your contributions as a result of these IRS provisions, you should carefully estimate your anticipated expenses for the coming year when you decide how much you will contribute to the FSA.
