OCTOBER 22, 2020

Our Enchanted Ocean: A night of art, performances, and science

It's a night of variety, featuring conductor Keith Lockhart, the Boston Dance Theater and more, in the season 2 finale of Ocean Encounters Oct. 28, 7:30 p.m.

---

Listening to whales can help save them

Mark Baumgartner explains how passive acoustics studies are leading to life-saving solutions.

Sea Change: Solutions for an Ocean Planet

WHOI President Peter de Menocal and UN economist Jeffrey Sachs explore paths ahead for humanity.

A sea of hazards

Learn how researchers are safeguarding us from the perils of a changing ocean.

Join science’s biggest group of fans

Visit the WHOI online store and get your own Together for Science t-shirt!

---

WHOI IN THE NEWS

- CAPE COD TIMES
  - Heat waves on Cape Cod may be tied to slowing ocean current

- THE NATIONAL
  - Coral reefs in the Arabian Gulf ‘talk’ to each other to repair areas under stress

- GIZMODO
  - Looks Like Japan Is Going Ahead With Plan to Dump Radioactive Fukushima Water Into the Ocean

- ENGINEERING & TECHNOLOGY NEWS
  - Is seaweed the future of fuel?

- NAUTILUS
  - Move Over, Mars: The Search for Life on Saturn’s Largest Moon

---

Where are WHOI Ships Now?

START TRACKING →